Was motiviert dich zu deiner Bewerbung?

The proportion of non-EU students is rather low compared to countries such as UK, as a result, the impact of community (Asian or African) could not be much active. Being a Chinese student, I share connections with the University Chinese community, which I often realise lots of issues that happen locally, for example: personal security, cultural shock, and lack of information on social activities are being discussed in the Chinese online group; unfortunately, these voices could sometimes not being projected out.

Received different educational modules: Chinese, British, and German, I am motivated to connect experiences of international students through listening their opinions, voicing out their suggestions, so as to not only help them integrate into this community, but also bring new insights to university culture.

Welche Erfahrungen bringst du für deine Bewerbung mit?

—Living and travel to many different countries: Born in Beijing, China; study in Singapore; visited Cambodia, Malaysia, Korea, Australia, USA, UK, Netherland, etc.

- Cultural Prefect in Singaporean high school for 3 years;
- Short-term school ambassador in charge of Singapore-HongKong student exchange;
- Self-organized inter-school student service from Singapore to Lijiang, China;

Was möchtest du im Rahmen deiner Arbeit erreichen?

- promote active engagements of international students by attending meetings;
- project pressing issues occurred in the international community, particularly represent the interest of Chinese students;
- if possible, organise public events in collaboration with other representatives to understand each other's culture better;
- ultimately, hope for active impact in the university raised by international community;

Wirst du dich an das „imperative Mandat“ halten?<sup>1</sup> Wie möchtest du dich mit dem Studierendenrat bzw. der Studierendenschaft im Allgemeinen rückbinden?

If I understand the question correctly, certainly I think it is important to act within the framework set by Student Council in order to perform my duty appropriately. We could summarise a compressed discussion result within the international committee first, and then present it to the student body regularly. If there is any disagreement, communication and understanding are always necessary.

Personen, die sich für die Service-Stellen im Sekretariat oder Beratungsstellen bewerben, brauchen natürlich nicht näher auf die „Mandatsfrage“ eingehen.
